

SPECTACULAR FIRE IN TIBURON

Flames Sweep Town in Early Morning Blaze

San Rafael—Fourteen buildings in the town of Tiburon and several on Corinthian Island were destroyed Monday in an early morning blaze with an estimated loss of $100,000.

Fire fighting apparatus from San Francisco, Sausalito and Tiburon brought the fire under control, after a two-hour battle. The high wind caused the fire to spread with great rapidity and carried a threat of destruction to the entire town.

The blaze broke out in the basement of Sullivan's pool room at 3 o'clock a. m., from some cause not yet explained. Before any engine company could arrive it had spread to adjoining buildings and was roaring down the block. It was soon seen that the local departments could not cope with it, and an appeal for aid was sent to Fire Chief Thomas Murphy in San Francisco.

Murphy dispatched a battalion chief and an engine on the ferryboat Tamalpais, which was sent over by the Northwestern Pacific Company, and promised to send further assistance if necessary. The report came back that the fire had been controlled.

The flames jumped to Corinthian Island and destroyed some small frame structures on the beach in addition to the 14 in the town of Tiburon. Belvedere Island was menaced, but the fire was stopped before it leaped to that island.

The club house of the Corinthian Yacht Club was saved.

BRITISH COAL MINERS STRIKE

Six Big Coal Mines Flooded and Are Ruined

London—The United Kingdom trembles on the brink of a tremendous industrial upheaval which is considered inevitable if the nationwide coal strike lasts and practically all of the 1,200,000 miners in England are idle.

Even in conservative quarters it is conceded that this crisis is more dangerous than any of its kind the kingdom has passed through.

The government, from King George down, is giving every indication that it is thoroughly aware of the gravity of the situation. The king has called parliament to convene eight days sooner than the date originally set "because a state of emergency exists." The government's official declaration, moreover, described the situation as the gravest since the declaration of war in 1914, and a special cabinet committee has been appointed to deal with the crisis.

As in previous coal strikes, the all-overshadowing fear of the government is again that the two other parties to the "triple alliance"—the rail men and the transport workers—may join the miners. Thousands of dock workers are employed to man the pumps at the mines, a difficult problem owing to the strong picketing by strikers.

Six big mines are already flooded so that they can never be put in operation again. Thirty others have applied to the government for help in pumping to prevent their flooding.

DISASTROUS FIRE AT MANILA

15,000 Made Homeless by Flames

Manila—Fifteen thousand were rendered homeless here by a fire, the most destructive here in more than twenty years, which destroyed three thousand houses in the northern section of the city, a native quarter known as the San Lazaro district.

Several bodies have been found in the ruins.

Police roughly estimate the loss at $3,000,000. The razed area consisted mostly of small native houses, occupied as dwellings that extended over thirty acres.

American sailors from the flagship Huron of the Asiatic fleet and American soldiers from the Manila barracks were cheered by thousands as they marched into the burning district to assist in fighting the flames. They razed houses surrounding the area, making a fire-break, which halted the progress of the fire.

Red Cross workers are assembling food and clothing for the thousands of homeless. An initial appropriation of $10,000 was made by the city council for relief work, and subscription lists have been opened.

FROST DAMAGES RAISINS

Fresno—Twenty per cent of the 1921 raisin crop or about 40,000 tons, were destroyed in the frost that hit the raisin section of the San Joaquin valley early in the week, according to a statement issued by Wylie M. Giffen.

Benjamin W. Cave, cashier of the Redlands National Bank for twelve years, was found dead in a woodshed at his home last week. The entire top of his head was blown off and a rifle was gripped in his hands. He had lived in Redlands for fifty years and had taken an active part in the up-building of the city. No motive is given for his apparent suicide.

GOVERNMENT URGED TO BAR JAPANESE

Californians Will Demand Exclusion of all Emigrants

San Francisco—Exclusion by act of the United States Government of Japanese home seekers and denial of further right of Japanese to own or lease land is demanded in a declaration of policy by the Japanese Exclusion League of California. V. S. McClatchy, Sacramento newspaper publisher, left for Washington, D. C., this week to lay the proposals before the State Department and Congress.

Indorsement of the principles outlined in the policy has been made by the affiliated organization, the Los Angeles Anti-Asiatic Association and the Exclusion League of Washington.

The four points of the policy are: 1. Absolute exclusion of all future Japanese immigrants, male and female; laborers, skilled and unskilled; "farmers" and men of small trades and professions, as recommended by Theodore Roosevelt. Permission for temporary residence only for tourists, students, artists, commercial men, teachers, etc.

2. Enforcement of exclusion act by United States officials under United States laws and regulations as is done with immigration from all other countries and not, as at present, under an arrangement by which control is surrendered to us by Japan.

3. Compliance by all Federal departments with the Constitution, and abandonment of the threat or attempt to take advantage of phrasing of the document for assuming treaty-making authority to violate plain provisions of the Constitution in the following matters:

(a) To nullify State rights and State laws for control of lands and other matters within the State's jurisdiction;

(b) To grant American citizenship to yellow races, which are made ineligible to such citizenship.

4. For Japanese legally entitled to residence in California fair treatment, protection in legally acquired property rights and the privilege of engaging in any business desired, except such as may be now or hereafter denied by law to all aliens or aliens ineligible to citizenship, provided particularly they may not hereafter buy or lease agricultural lands.

VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE

Instructors to Offer Teacher-Training Courses

Berkeley—Twenty-four instructors will offer nineteen teacher-training courses in vocational agriculture at the University of California summer session at the Chaffey Junior College of Agriculture at Ontario, it has been announced. An outline of the work in rural institutions, agricultural education, education, agricultural engineering, animal husbandry, civiculture, pomology, poultry husbandry and entomology, has been given.

Professor F. L. Griffin, director of the summer session training courses in vocational agriculture, said:

"These courses, to be held during the six weeks from June 20 to July 20 of this year, are designed to prepare teachers and prospective teachers of agriculture in California schools to meet the certification requirements of the California State Board of Education."

The first aerial mail plane from St. Louis to Chicago completed the trip in three hours and fifty minutes actual flying time.

HOLDS TWO LEGION OFFICES

Winchester, Va., Man Is State Historian as Well as Chairman of Americanism Commission.

B. M. Roszel of Winchester, Va., has been entrusted with two offices by the Virginia department of the American Legion. He is state historian as well as chairman of the Department's Americanism Commission. He also serves as historian of his post.

Born in Baltimore, Md., Mr. Roszel was educated in the schools of his state and received the A. B. and Ph. D. degrees from Johns Hopkins University. Afterwards he was a fellow in astronomy and an instructor in mathematics in that institution, and later a teacher of physics, mathematics and chemistry in the Washington high school system, Washington, D. C. From 1903 to 1908 Mr. Roszel was head master of the Seawane Grammar School, in charge of the preparatory department of the University of the South. Since 1908 he has been superintendent of the Shenandoah Valley Academy, a military school at Winchester, Va.

Mr. Roszel served eighteen months in this country and overseas in the Army and was discharged a major. He has since accepted a similar commission in the Reserve Corps.

TRAVEL PICTURES FOR POSTS

Films Embracing One Thousand Topics, for Use of All Legion Organizations.

By arrangement between the American Legion and the bureau of commercial economics, the most complete and valuable collection of educational and travel motion picture films in existence will be placed at the disposal of the Legion for free exhibition under the auspices of all posts. The films, which embrace 1,000 separate topics, are the property of the bureau, an altruistic institution the sole aim of which is to advance education and pride in American institutions.

At the instance of national headquarters, the bureau has prepared a special catalogue in which each film is numbered and described. A copy of this catalogue will become the property of each Legion post. The only expense attached to posts ordering the films will be the payment of express charges to and from the nearest distributing center of the bureau. No admission fee may be charged by the post.

A distributing center for the films will be established in almost every state. Responsibility for the transmission of the catalogues and the information concerning the location of distributing centers to which each post must apply for films, rests with the state departments.

The story of the establishment of the bureau of commercial economics is that of a fulfillment of a vow which a blind man took years ago, should his sight be restored. Dr. Francis Holley, the founder and director of the bureau, vowed to work for the betterment of mankind when he recovered his sight, and the bureau is the result.

CONVICT'S HEROIC ACTION

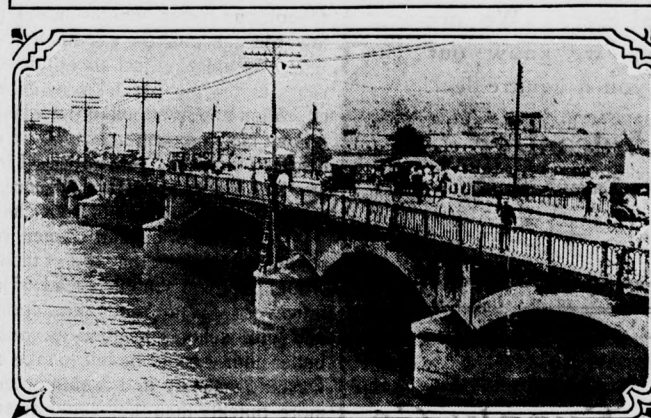

"Lifer" Balances Score by Rescue of Human Life

San Rafael—Battling high waves off San Quentin point Sunday afternoon, Carlos Balasteri, life-terminer at San Quentin, and Bert Smith, a penitentiary guard, saved the life of W. G. Kennedy of San Francisco, after Kennedy, with both oars lost and his rowboat half filled with water, had given himself up for lost.

Captain Myron Clark of the San Quentin guard saw a black speck off the point, and training a glass on it saw a man desperately bailing water from his boat with his hat. Clark dispatched Smith and Balasteri in a rowboat, when Balasteri, who was convicted of killing Game Warden Ernest Reynaud near Greenbrae four years ago, begged to be permitted to save a life near the spot where he had taken one. Being a powerful man, he was permitted to go.

Balasteri and Smith, rowing desperately, fought the waves for an hour before rescuing Kennedy. Unable to get back to San Quentin point, they fought their way to Greenbrae, where Kennedy was landed safely a few hundred feet from the spot where Reynaud died four years ago. Kennedy had lost one oar and broken another.

A Passing Landmark of Old Manila

This is a photograph of the famous old Bridge of Spain, Manila. It is now a departed landmark of the Philippines, for its place has been taken by one of the finest bridges in the entire Orient, the new Jones bridge.

The Jones Bridge is named in honor of the late Congressman W. A. Jones of Virginia, author of the Jones law of 1916 which promised the Filipinos independence upon the establishment of a stable government.

The old Bridge of Spain is called "the mother of Manila's bridges." The original bridge was built of pontoons sometime between the years 1590 and 1600, being known as the Bridge of Boats. The stone bridge shown above was built about 1630. It was twice damaged by earthquakes, and was once partly demolished by a flood.

CAMPBELL FIREMEN DO VALIANT WORK

Again has our fire apparatus, aided and abetted by the enthusiastic and persistent labors of our firemen, demonstrated its worth. The clang of the fire bell sent terror to the minds of all yesterday morning when it pealed out in the face of as fierce a wind as often visits this section.

The house occupied by Mr. Sol Jacobs adjacent to the California Cannery was fully ablaze on the roof and upper floor. Prompt assistance succeeded in salvaging most of the furnishings of the lower story, but everything upstairs was lost.

Mrs. B. Pyat, housekeeper for Mr. Jacobs, lost all of her furniture and over two hundred dollars in currency.

Several men not members of the fire company, lent their services, as a number of the regulars were out of town.

The J. C. Ainsley Cannery force also rendered great assistance, using their fire apparatus to good advantage and having hose at work in record time.

Considering the close proximity of the California Canneries plant and the stiff wind blowing, the workers are due great credit in subduing the fire and preventing its spread.

In appreciation of their work Mr. Jacobs has presented the fire company with a check.

NOTE OF APPRECIATION

Campbell, April 6, 1921.
Harry C. Smith, Editor:

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the people of Campbell for their kindly help during the fire at my house and especially the Campbell Fire Brigade for their prompt answer to the call and the efficient handling of the fire; also to the J. C. Ainsley Co. staff for their untiring efforts to save the cannery and adjoining property. I also wish to express my sincere thanks to Dr. Merrill, Abe Johnson and others, not forgetting the ladies, who helped so much to minimize the damages; also to my fellow townspeople for their kind expressions of sympathy which I have received. I take this opportunity of handing to you my check for $25 to be given to the Campbell Fire Brigade, as a small token for their very valuable and efficient services.

Yours truly,
Sol Jacobs.

JACKSON-OHLEN

Following the ceremony the party went to one of San Jose's cafes for the wedding dinner.

Mr. Ohlen has made several changes in the house that the bride may have a very cozy home to begin her housekeeping and Billy is quite a housekeeper himself.

One of the wedding presents to the bride was a pretty electric reading lamp.

Their friends extend most hearty best wishes to the happy couple.

HOME AND SCHOOL CLUB BENEFIT PLAY

The following clipping is part of the report of the play given at Sunnyvale and to be produced in Campbell next Thursday evening for the benefit of the home and school club.

"The three-act comedy, 'Between the Acts,' which was given by the B. Y. P. U. of the Sunnyvale Baptist church last Friday evening in the Sunnyvale school auditorium proved to be one of the very best productions of the kind presented in this vicinity. The play was full of laughs from the time the curtain raised until it dropped at the close of the third act.

Dick Comfort, a young playwright, lives comfortably on an allowance given him by his rich Uncle Meander, upon the condition that he shall never marry; despite this stipulation and unknown to his uncle, Dick has married the girl of his choice and all goes well until the unexpected arrival of his uncle. It is then necessary for him to dispose of his wife and play the part of a bachelor, and in so doing he falls into a series of humorous and complicated situations which keeps the audience in a state of expectancy, wondering how he will come out of each successive predicament.

The dialogue was snappy and full of pep and each of the seven characters contributed to the success of the affair by interpreting his part in a thoroughly natural and artistic manner.

Splendid music was furnished by an orchestra of 12 pieces under the direction of Mr. F. M. Mathews.

It will be of interest to Campbell to learn that Millard Berry takes one of the characters in the play and is also one of the orchestra.

WHAT ONE WOMAN WANTS

We have a letter from the wife of a well-known farmer living a few miles from Turlock that deserves special mention and which will, we believe, voice the sentiment of almost every woman in this community.

She says the primary desire of the farm housewife is, not running water in the house, a washing machine or aluminum cooking utensils, but better roads and schools. She argues that better roads mean better mail service and better facilities for getting to and from school, and better schools in our rural districts would go a long way towards checking the exodus from the farms to the town and city.

An amazing fact about this back-to-the-land movement of recent years is that people have so generally disregarded the passion for education and overlooked the wishes of the youth. It is, too, a well-known fact that better schools in our towns are a powerful factor in bringing hundreds of families off from the farms who would otherwise stay there, and prove more successful if they, too, had equal advantages for the education of their children.

It used to be said of men on the farms that they thought more of their barns than they did of their dwellings. A good farm woman would put good schools ahead of home itself. The two go together, however. With roads that permit consolidation of school districts, and with schools as good as those in towns and cities, the issue of better homes could be left to take care of itself—and the electric lights, washing machine and cooking utensils would be secured a great deal more quickly than they could be secured in any other way.—Turlock Journal.

CAMPBELL WAS TREATED to an innovation in banking business this week. One of the new banking concerns of San Jose, namely, the Growers Bank, has invaded our community soliciting depositors. They probably need the deposits, but the house-to-house canvassing, giving as a premium a fountain pen to depositors of $5, or over, is questionable ethics. This is the method often used to secure subscriptions to cheap magazines, but rather lowers the dignity of the banking business in general when used to secure patrons who are already being served by their home banks. How much good may be gained by this bank for its pains is a question, but considerable unfavorable comment has already been heard on our streets since Wednesday, when we were visited.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The hospitable home of Mrs. F. S. Newcomb was a pleasant setting for the observance of "Union Signal Day" by Campbell W. C. T. U. As usual, there were exquisite flowers from the hostess's garden—this time freesia, heliotrope and other fragrant blossoms. Among the items of business enacted, it was voted to send a letter of appreciation to the editor of the Mercury Herald regarding the excellent editorials in favor of prohibition which have appeared in above paper recently. The secretary was also instructed to write the Supervisors of Santa Clara County and ask them to enact an ordinance making it the duty of county officers to enforce the 18th Amendment to the United States Constitution. The program was conducted by the superintendent, Mrs. Newcomb, and proved of much interest.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet with Mrs. C. H. Whitman, 98 Central Ave. on April 13th, at 2:30 p. m. All are requested to bring their Flower Mission Report cards and hand to the superintendent of that work. The delegates to the County W. C. T. U. convention at Willow Glen, will also please report if unable to attend the convention, that their alternates may be in readiness to go.

There will be a spelling contest at the home of Mrs. C. H. Whitman April 13. A number of words which will give contestants an idea of the words to be used, will be found in the April number of the White Ribbon Ensign on page 7. Come prepared to enter into the fun of the contest.

Mrs. Minnie Lewis is confined to her home with a flu siege.

George Husted, one of a party to fish at Carmel Friday, reported the limit landed.

Miss Adra F. Eaton left last week for Owl Creek, British Columbia, for a much needed rest of several months.

Mrs. E. A. Powers and children of Chico arrived Sunday to visit with Uncle Jos. Bohnett and family.

J. C. Ainsley and family returned Sunday from their week vacation in the south: They found things quite hot and dry as compared with our beautiful green valley.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Isham returned home from San Francisco Tuesday after seeing the new family properly cared for.

CHAUTAUQUA

Ralston Alison, chairman of the Chautauqua Committee, has received word from the Radcliffe headquarters at Washington that Campbell's dates for Chautauqua have been set at April 27, 28, 29. The following excerpt from the letter will give an idea of the program:

The general subject for the season is "American Ideals," covering various social, political and industrial aspects of our efforts to make our country reach its highest efficiency. Splendid concert or entertainment organizations will accompany each speaker, and on one day there will be story telling for the children. The Chautauqua Director will be in charge of the program, upon which there will be a different speaker and entertainment organization each day. We are confident that the Chautauqua this year will meet with the highest expectations of your community, and that you will find it superior to any similar event that may have been held in your vicinity.

LEGION IS HIS MIDDLE NAME

Adjutant and Americanism Director of Chicago Post First to Name Himself After Organization.

"Every American ought to have an American name," said Jacob Teinowitz, adjutant and Americanism director of Walter S. Poague Post No. 161 of the American Legion in Chicago, at a post meeting.

"To prove that I stand up for my convictions, I have changed my name to Jacob Legion Tenny."

Tenny said that there should be a law establishing an American standard of nomenclature and that, in the meantime, it is up to members of the American Legion to set the fashion.

"Teinowitz is a grand old name, but Tenny will be easier to pronounce," said Tenny. "I'm retaining my first name, Jacob, of course, but I'm adding Legion as a brand new middle name. So far as I know, I'm the first man who has named himself after the American Legion. There couldn't be any better name for a he-man son of an American service man than Legion."

Tenny enlisted with the first contingent of eighteen men from the West side of Chicago and served overseas. He is a lawyer and at the last primary election was a Democratic candidate for municipal judge.

Natural Wants and Created Wants

If you will think for a moment, it will become apparent that all the things made use of in life can be quite easily divided into two classes: natural wants and created wants. When you are hungry, food suggests itself—it's a natural want. That little watch, though, which tells you when it is time for lunch, you have learned the value of from experience—it's a created want.

The subject is interesting. You see that savage peoples have always recognized and made use of natural wants. Created wants, however, are products of civilization. Why? Because watches, electric lights, automobiles, telephone and like things, require imagination and ingenuity to produce and intelligence to use—they are results of educational advancement.

Not the least among created wants is bank service. A hole in the ground or the old woman's stocking served their day pretty well; but having learned a much better way, we regard the old ones with some amusement. Yet bank service does more than provide security for funds. It has grown to include other things, and is still growing.

Since our space for each of these talks is necessarily limited, we must force our points home with some emphasis. Grip the next idea firmly: Knowledge of created wants is spread chiefly through advertisements. That is why we address you in this way. So far as you are concerned, our service lies idle until you make contact with it—we lose, and so do you, hence we try to inform you of its value. Safe Deposit Boxes, the big created service that a small $2 a year will buy, will be our subject for several issues. The talks will interest you, whether you wait to be convinced, or do the better thing—rent a box today.

FIRE!

On Monday morning a residence in your own town was practically totally destroyed by fire which started from cinders falling on old shingles.

Through the heroic efforts of your local Volunteer Fire Department the lower portion of the dwelling was partially saved; but the upper floor was a complete loss.

One of the most tragic incidents connected with the catastrophe, was the loss of a roll of currency, containing several hundred dollars, and which represented the life-time savings of the elderly woman housekeeper, who preferred to trust to her own watchfulness rather than deposit her money on interest with a bank.

There are many more like her. You may be one of them yourself. If you are, draw a lesson from what has just taken place at your very doorstep, and don't leave money about the house. You may leave it beautifully hidden where sneak thieves could never trace it, but no matter how carefully it is concealed, fire will find it.

Keep your money and valuable papers in a bank, where they will be safe from thieves and fire alike.

We do not tell you that you should do this with us—there are plenty of other good banks: but we do want you to know that we are equipped to give your valuables the utmost protection possible, and should you feel inclined to avail yourself of our facilities, that you will receive prompt, efficient and courteous service.

SEASON DULY OPENED

Among the many fishing parties of April 1st was one that rivalled some in one point at least, all the members of it securing something for their labor. These were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Archibald and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Smith, who were entertained at the I.O.O.F. hall.

Invitations had been patterned after an angling license, and the early part of the evening was devoted to a fish pond and to finding the names of "Fish in a Pond," at which Mrs. W. H. Stray and H. W. Morton proved most adept.

Tables of "500" and rook were then arranged with April fool rules governing, winners going back and losers advancing.

Prizes for these games were allotted in accordance with the same idea, the gentlemen drawing beads, powder puffs, etc., while the ladies acquired necktie, shaving soap and other distinctly male appurtenances. The ones gaining recognition were Mesdames L. S. Miller, Ben Rodeck and G. C. Archibald, and Miss Alice Duncan and Messrs. Alexander, Wolff, Cramer and Lenox.

Picnic tables were set with wooden and paper dishes and the refreshments were characteristic of picnic lunches.

The hall was decorated with pepper branches and a profusion of lilacs and iris, with fishing paraphernalia quite in evidence.

Not many "fish stories" were told as the hall had been placarded "Camp Truthful" for the occasion.

The play to be given by the Sunnyvale B. Y. P. U. is full of laughs. Since "A merry heart doeth good like medicine," bring the wife out to the entertainment April 14 and see how wholesome fun will rejuvenate the tired mind and body.

Zealously labor for right, and success is certain.

NIGHT BEFORE PAY DAY

'Twas the night before pay day, and all through my jeans
I hunted in vain for the price of some beans;
Not a quarter was stirring, not even a jilt;
The kale was off duty, drilled edges
had quit.
Forward, turn forward, O Time, in thy flight—
Make it tomorrow just for tonight.

HIGHWAY COMPLETE- MENT DATE UNKNOWN

Hardly a day passes but some paper announces the day when the Los Gatos-Glenwood highway will be completed. One of the latest stunts is the announcement by a Santa Cruz county supervisor that the highway will be completed by July 15.

There is no use to raise false hopes. It is not likely that the strip between Los Gatos and Alma will be finished before July, although every possible effort will be made by the contractor to have it completed by June. When the rest of the road will be finished no one can intelligently predict at this time.

Contractor Connor plans soon to put on crews at three different points on the highway and more machinery will be added to his equipment. He is doing his best to rush the work, as he realizes that every day of delay means great loss to Los Gatos and Santa Cruz.

But it is safe to say that the highway between Los Gatos and Glenwood will not be completed by July 15, as stated by the Santa Cruz supervisor.
